

Antedating HexaBarnacle to a setting of 10 years later leads to a fabricated ecological sculpture that provides habitat to marine life through an established nursery among the marshlands which is beneficial for the food web ecosystem and recreational fishing. HexaBarnacle becomes an extension of the Santa Monica Pier where the public can engage with marine ecology and experience a setting that generates renewable energy for the pier.