

The Giving Tree influence

This structure was inspired by Gaudi's La Sagrada Familia, The lone Cypress tree, and also a few other sources online.

The look of the structures will look tree like in color, and material, just like La Sagrada Familia it will try to blend aspects of nature into its design. One reason I picked the cypress tree was due to its shape and also because it is known to grow near water. I believe that due to the size of the structure and the technologies behind it, it will help the city become more green and also inspire other cities to do similar structures/projects to better our communities.
