

A FIELD IN MOTION

FROM A SEA TO ANOTHER

Sculpted by the sea breeze, waves are tirelessly reaching the coast and spreading their energy on the shore. Sculpted by the moon, tides are manifestation of the planets rotations. Their movements are an energy demonstration. This artificial landscape comes upon the sea to catch its energy and bring people close to the process. As an interface between two worlds, it incorporates natural forces and human activities together. The infinite renewable energy of water motion links poetry to the subtle power of celestial mechanics.
