

Santa Monica California

The location of this project has a great potential to impact the community. To residents of Los Angeles the ocean, especially the pier at Santa Monica, holds a special place in their hearts. The end of iconic route 66, a place with historical significance. In design of this sustainable structure, the community must feel that they are involved, to ensure that it is embraced by the media. Beauty and functionality rule supreme in the mind of fast-paced Angelenos. The appearance of the final design, with sleek lines, minimalist geometry, biomimicry, and visual Tensegrity, these design principles attract the perceptive eye of the community.
